

SUPPORTING THE MOVEMENT FOR GREATER ECONOMIC EQUALITY

You're invited: Sunday, October 30th

Public Workshop

“The Growing Divide, the Roots of Economic Insecurity, and the Movement for Economic Fairness”

When: 2:00-3:30 pm, Sunday, October 30th.

What happens at the workshop: Go beyond the sound bites that pass for national dialogue on the Great Recession, examine trends in the distribution of income and wealth using “human graphs,” explore the impact of trickle-down policies on our lives, and plan what we can do to protect vital public assets including our democracy - all in a participatory way that draws on your own experience.

Who: Great for everyone who is concerned about families, students, voters, immigrants and a fair economy.

Where: Brooklyn Society for Ethical Culture, our Co-sponsor, at 53 Prospect Park West, Brooklyn 11215.

Cost: $15 or whatever you can afford.

Members & Friends Party

When: 4:00-6:00 pm, Sunday, October 30th.

What happens at the gathering: Learn how United for a Fair Economy (and its project, Responsible Wealth) address growing income inequality and the racial wealth divide. Meet people who share your values, discuss the economic issues of the day, experience a brief participatory exercise and enjoy light refreshments. Special guest appearance by local performance artist, Professor Louie.

Who: Great for people who care about growing inequality in our country (no children, please).

Where: Park Slope, Brooklyn 11215

(We'll email the actual address the week before.)

Cost: Donations welcomed but not required. We hope you'll be inspired to join us.

Please RSVP for one or both of these events to Kathy at klique@faireconomy.org or 617-423-2148, x121 and tell us how many people will attend.
